SUMMER MANNERS HIKING SERIES in FRANKLIN CANYON PARK

Select a Sunday or Series of 4

6/26, 7/10, 7/24, 8/14

10:30am to 12:00noon

$25 each or $90 for series

Enjoy the beautiful outdoors while receiving a bit of etiquette education to boot! Beverly Hills Manners is pleased to offer a special new series program that will strengthen both the body and mind and add polish to your personal and professional lives. Join us for a 45-minute hike up the Discovery Trail 1.8 mile Loop in scenic Franklin Canyon Park followed by a 45-minute mindful manners discussion and snack on the grass beneath the live oak trees.

Franklin Canyon Park is located near Benedict Canyon at the geographical center of Los Angeles. Franklin Canyon Park spans 605 acres and features over five miles of hiking trails. The park's history dates to 1914, when William Mulholland built the Upper Franklin Canyon Reservoir. In the 1930s, the family of oil baron Edward Doheny used the canyon as a summer retreat. The easy stroll around the reservoir offers plentiful views of birds and wildlife.

Summer Series Topics Include:

6/26 Keeping Up Appearances: The Lasting Effect of a Good First Impression

7/10 Pleased to Meet Me: How to Meet & Greet, Neat.

7/24 Indirect Communications: In the Digital Age, We're All Under Surveillance

8/14 Step Into My Office: A Pro Never Punches Out

Bring your questions, quandaries and conundrums and share your personal stories and anecdotes in a non-judgmental environment.

Directions: Head north on Beverly Drive following signs to Coldwater Canyon. Turn left on Coldwater/Beverly Drive and turn left again on Beverly Drive at Fire Station No. 2. The third right is Franklin Canyon Drive. Continue through the residential area to the park entrance. At the intersection of Franklin Canyon Drive and Lake Drive turn left to go to the Sooky Goldman Nature Center and Franklin Canyon Lake. (VIEW MAP)
